The PASS Court values what you think about the program. We care about your thoughts not only because we appreciate you, but also because you have become an important part of someone else's success by participating in PASS Court. You have helped pave the way for many others that will follow in your steps, and we want your experience on what we did right, what we did wrong, and what worked best for you. Most importantly, we want your advice on how to be the best that we can be.

Keep in mind that we have specifically designed the survey to be reviewed only after you have graduated. In other words, no matter what you have to say, we cannot take your success away from you – you are free from all obligations to the United States Probation Office, the District Court overseeing your case, and to your PASS Court team. This is the best way we know for you to be as comfortable as possible giving honest feedback.
